

2
ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE 1-B

WASHINGTON TIMES
5 June 1985

DIANA HEARS

Q: Adorable. Nowadays, I hear,
Sex is much, much used by spies?

A: Victor Marchetti, the former CIAer and author, says in the new Omni, that "Sex — like booze, dope, money and everything else that could easily corrupt a man — is a standard tool of the spy business."
Not, however, the best one. "It is used by all secret intelligence services in the often dubious and sometimes deadly games they play.
Most espionage operations that rely on sex result in failure, if not outright disaster — although, occasionally, humorously so."